Sun Chemical Appoints Litho Supplies as National Distributor for Narrow Web Products

WEXHAM SPRINGS, UK – June 2014, Sun Chemical, the world's leading manufacturer of printing inks, coatings and performance pigments, has appointed Litho Supplies as a National Distributor for its Solaris Narrow Web product portfolio.

Looking to progress its strong position in the marketplace, Sun Chemical recognised Litho Supplies as a knowledgeable and capable distributor for servicing its narrow web range of products across the UK. Solaris offers a complete range of inks and coatings formulated for the needs of narrow web printers and applications.

Richard Kemp, UK Business Director, Sun Chemical comments: "Litho Supplies has a unique product portfolio, an established customer base and an excellent distribution network. We were looking for a business that aligned with our narrow web growth strategy and Litho Supplies was the obvious choice."

The move builds on the current relationship with Litho Supplies which started when they were named UK distributor for Sun Chemical's Streamline range of aftermarket solvent based inkjet inks for wide and superwide format digital printers in 2013.

Litho Supplies Managing Director, Eddie Williams, comments: "Over the past 2 years, Litho Supplies has built a great working relationship with Sun Chemical. Our customers have been impressed by the quality and benefits of the products and the Solaris Narrow Web inks will complement our current product portfolio."
